Welcome to the 7th issue of Beyond Blue!

The benthic realm is our focus this time round. Check out David Ulloa's insight into the Vandenberg artificial reef – complete with mind-blowing images, courtesy of Don Kincaid - Amanda Bates' voyage to the deep and David Delaney's advice on how to prevent the spread of invasive alien species.

Mike Markovina continues his Moving Sushi adventure, bringing us stories from Japan and Norway, and Brigitte Ebbe describes life onboard a research vessel.

The talented Charles Maxwell, who captures benthic life in False Bay, contributes our Photo Essay for this issue. All this plus our regular features makes this a must see issue!
